HIGHLIGHTS

LATEST IN-DEMAND TECH SKILLS

In addition to its e-commerce dimension, which provides a comprehensive understanding of web marketing, the curriculum covers a range of innovative market technologies and practices. The different modules give students the opportunity to dig into subjects such as computer intelligence, web development, blockchain, graphic design, drones and IoT. Equipped with this comprehensive toolbox, future marketing technologists will be sure to thrive in this demanding environment.

EXCELLENT EMPLOYABILITY PROSPECTS

The curriculum is perfectly aligned with current market practice, as it is designed in association with a powerful professional ecosystem - expert lecturers, partners, network companies and more - that benefits from a high reputation in the industry. This ensures that the course keeps pace with a fast-changing environment. As a result, students acquire a set of distinctive skills that are highly sought after by recruiters, adding value that translates into excellent employability after graduation.

STRONG INTERNATIONAL DIMENSION

The international perspective is reflected in both the teaching and the multicultural environment, made up of teachers and students from all over the world. Courses are taught in English, providing a global communications platform for seamless business operations. It is also the most widely used language in tech and digital marketing. The programme includes an international internship opportunity: a chance to experience different cultures, management styles and corporate structures.
