HIGHLIGHTS

A GLOBAL APPROACH TO DATA

The programme covers a wide range of subjects to ensure a comprehensive approach to the field. Students are exposed to programming languages, data mining, data organisation, data visualisation techniques and information systems management. This teaching method turns graduates into experts with a comprehensive vision, capable of bridging the gap between cutting-edge techniques and business operations within organisations.

A THOROUGH MANAGERIAL TRAINING

To provide both technical expertise and advanced managerial skills, the curriculum covers all aspects of management: digital corporate strategy, ethical issues, legal aspects, project management and design thinking. Real-life case studies are given particular importance in the fields of finance, marketing and logistics, all of which future managers will be expected to deal with. Soft skills are also promoted, through public speaking, leadership and team management.

HIGH-PROFILE PARTNERS

Graduates of the MSc Data Analytics for Business will have access to a solid network of graduates and partner companies throughout their studies and beyond. Among those involved, Microsoft, a leader in its field, is a major sponsor of the programme, which also draws on the expertise of Digital Aquitaine and the Trustworthy Artificial Intelligence Chair. Corporate partners are part of the programme's development committee ensuring the teaching is in line with recruiter's expectations.

TESTIMONIALS

"Provide companies with versatile and cross-disciplinary talents"

Sébastien VAUDOUR
Big Data Owner, Danone

"In a context where data is at the heart of the transformation challenges facing companies, the skills and knowledge linked to data processing are essential."

"Strategies to convert businesses"

Edouard BELOUET
Managing Director, Accenture

"Today, technology is at the heart of our clients' business, and their business and technology strategies are inseparable, if not indistinguishable. The talents arriving on the job market today must master the technologies, in order to be able to implement them within their company. Through the BI & ML master's programme, KEDGE offers training that prepares students to address these issues."
